

Stage Set for Ball at Armory

Benedictine Ball Easter Monday Night Expected to Eclipse Former Success—Concert Program and Entertainment.

Plans for the Benedictine Ball to be held at the armory Easter Monday night are complete and according to present indications the affair will be one of the crowning social successes of the year. The ticket sales have reached high numbers and the entertainment program to be staged in the appropriately decorated ball shed has been arranged so that all may be pleased. Zucca's and Erbe's orchestras will furnish a concert program and continuous music for dancing.

A decorating committee under the supervision of William J. Dwyer has turned the armory into dance palace of exceptional beauty with crepe paper and other decorative materials. Easter colors were used to carry out a novel design made by Mr. Dwyer and the armory presents one of the most beautiful aspects ever created for such an occasion.

The doors of the big drill shed, with its floor properly treated to make dancing most enjoyable, will open at 7:30 Easter Monday evening. A corps of ushers under the direction of Bernard A. Feeney, chairman of that committee, who arranged the seating so that the entertainment may be visible to all who attend, will escort patrons to seats.

Paul Zucca's and John F. Erbe's Broadcasting Orchestra will render concert programs so that time may pass quickly until the entertainment program begins. This feature of the ball, arranged by Mrs. John F. Larkin, and expected to be one of the most successful ever to be presented at a benefit ball, will start at 8:30 o'clock and be presented in the following order:

Toe Dance. Marjorie Lockwood
Acrobatic Dance. Ella Mae Langlo
Russian Dance. Vincent Cataldi
Basso Solos. "The Volga Boatman."
Two Grenadiers.

Snow. Zazen E. Melik.
Accompanied by Charles Z. Schutta.
Waltz Clog. Lillian Woerner and Roger Kough.
Vice, Vincent Cataldi and Helena Snow.
Tenor Solos. "She Never Told Her Love" by Hayden; "The Jolly Miller" by Quiller; "Thus Wisdom Slings" by Horsman; "Quella Finanza" by Marcellio; "Lamento Provincial" by Paradilhe and "Provegalisches Lied" by Schumann.

Frank Hart, accompanied by Miss Margaret Spatz.

Immediately after the entertainment program ends dancing will start and will be enjoyed. Dancers will need refreshment and may satisfy themselves at the lemonade booth to be conducted by Mrs. Frank Rist, chairman, and a number of helpers. More substantial refreshments will be served at the booth near the entrance of the armory where a corps of ladies under Mrs. Patrick Lloyd will serve. Flowers and cigarettes which are in great demand at such occasions, will be sold at a booth to be presided over by Mrs. Edward J. Kelley. A check room will be conducted by a group of ladies working on a committee of which Anna Welch is chairman.

Tickets for the ball may be purchased from the following committee members: Mary E. McGill, chairman; Mrs. N. D. J. Murphy, Mrs. Mark O'Meara, Mrs. E. D. Tremper, Mrs. Joan D. Goldrick, Mrs. John Herrick, Mrs. John F. Larkin, Miss Tessie Brophy, Miss Marie Murphy, Mrs. Frank Ditch, Miss E. C. Rosecrans, Mrs. E. Kelley, Mrs. Florence Cordts, Mrs. C. Keefe, Mrs. Rosetta Lorenz, Mrs. James Lynch, Mrs. John Robbins, Mrs. J. T. Garland, Mrs. Frank L. Magner and Mrs. Vincent Gorman of Kingston.

Mrs. Joan D. Goldrick, general chairman of the Benedictine Ball, has been devoting her entire time toward making the event a success. Her untiring efforts are receiving the commendation of those working under her supervision and her labors will have a great bearing on the success of the Easter Monday Benedictine Ball.

Ferryboat on Rocks

New York, April 7 (AP).—The municipal ferryboat Maurice E. Connelly, named for the former president of Queens Borough, who resided while his administration was under investigation a few days ago, went on the rocks in the East River at dawn today. The boat had no passengers aboard at the time and was undamaged. Preparations were made to free it at flood tide.

John E. Rowland, son of John F. Rowland, who was connected with the city administration under Mayor Dempsey, has resigned, taking effect as of April 1. Mr. Rowland after taking a month's vacation will enter into a business for himself in town, the nature of which is in a formative state.

Family of Eight Dead in Ruins

Cisco, Tex., April 7 (AP).—Eight persons, two adults and six children, all members of the family of Boss Jackson, farmer, either burned to death or were slain before their country home was destroyed by fire late last night. Sheriff Hart of Eastland county and Night Chief R. L. Wilson of Cisco, who were called to the scene, said the condition of the bodies of two of the children caused them to think they had been slain before the fire started.

A. C. Green, undertaker, to whose establishment the bodies were taken, said the bodies were burned so badly it was difficult to determine what might have caused death. The Jackson family consisted of the father, about 49 years old, his wife and six daughters, ranging in age from twins one year old to a girl of 12. Four of the children were in a room with the mother and two with the father.

Neighbors were attracted by the flames shortly before midnight. The heat prevented an attempt to rescue the family and there was no means of combating the blaze.

The bodies were recovered early today by Cisco officers and brought here. Sheriff Hart and Chief Wilson said an investigation would be conducted on the theory the house may have been burned after the family was slain.

Jackson had lived on his farm six miles southwest of here for nearly fifteen years.

Depew's First Political Speech

Was Delivered in Kingston in 1856, and Senator Had Tender Feeling for Kingston and Ulster County.

The president of the Union League Club of New York appointed Judge Clearwater one of the committee to represent the club at the funeral service of Chauncey M. Depew at St. Thomas's Church, Fifth avenue, New York, and at the interment at Peekskill.

The lowering of the flag at the court house Friday as a tribute to the memory of Senator Depew was singularly appropriate. Mr. Depew frequently told the judge that among the matters which endeared Kingston to him was that he, Depew, made the first political speech of his life at the court house in Kingston, in 1856. The Hon. Abram Bruyn Hasbrouck, who had been a Whig representative in Congress, presided at the meeting and there was a body guard to the speaker composed of the soldiers of the War of 1812, commanded by Judge Clearwater's grandfather, Thomas Clearwater, who was an officer in that war.

Mr. Depew frequently expressed the hope that the people of Ulster county never would tear down the existing court house in order to erect what he humorously termed "such a gigantic monstrosity" as was put up by the city of New York.

Blame Jealousy For Murder

Watertown, N. Y., April 7 (AP).—Merritt Manning, of Hammond, was shot and killed in the home of Howard Bishop, also of Hammond, late last night. Bishop, who is alleged to have told Mrs. Manning that he had killed her husband, and taken her to his home and showed her Manning's body, was arrested at his home today by State Troopers from Malone.

Jealousy on account of the friendship of Manning for Mrs. Bishop is ascribed by the authorities as the motive for the slaying.

The police said today that their investigation showed that Bishop went to a dance last night, but that his wife and Manning did not attend. Becoming jealous, Bishop left the dance and went home, where he found Manning and Mrs. Bishop. Crazed with jealousy, he killed Manning with a shotgun.

Bishop then went back to the dance and told Mrs. Manning and others present what he had done, but they thought he was joking and refused to believe him. A little later, he took Mrs. Manning and others at the party to his home in his car where he showed them Manning's body. Mrs. Bishop was in the house. Manning was 59 years of age. Bishop is forty. Each was the father of two children.

Passengers Use Knife on Busses

Patrons who use the city busses have noticed recently that huge chunks have been cut out of the leather backs of the seats and, according to G. Burton Tebow, general manager, the mutilating of the seats is the work of some of the passengers on the busses who while riding from one part of the city to the other occupy the time by using their jackknives. Mr. Tebow stated today that anyone found using a knife for such a purpose would be promptly arrested.

A Business Certificate

Marilyn M. Johnson of Woodstock has certified to the Ulster county clerk that she is conducting a business under the assumed name business 123 as Ken's Restaurant.

Wonderly Egg Hunt Exciting

Five Hundred Boys Took Part in Easter Egg Hunt With Elmer Riehl Finding the Golden Egg—Eggs Hidden Friday Night and Stolen During Night by Gang of Boys.

Long before 10 o'clock this morning hundreds of boys began to gather on Wall street in front of the store of the Wonderly Company to take part in the Easter egg hunt staged by the company, and when the hunt started at the hour set fully five hundred boys took part in it. The company had hidden 275 fresh hard-boiled dyed eggs at Forsyth Park and the park was thoroughly combed by the eager lads anxious to win the prizes offered.

The gold egg was found by Elmer Riehl of 411 Washington avenue, who was awarded $5 in cash; the silver egg was located by Robert Delano, of 284 Washington avenue, who was awarded $3 in cash, while the greatest number of eggs were found by Leon Studt, of 72 Moore street, who was awarded $2 in cash. Studt found 42 eggs hidden in the park. All three prize winners were between 9 and 10 years old.

The eggs to be searched for were hidden Friday evening in various places in Forsyth Park in preparation for the Easter hunt this morning, but during the night a gang of boys got busy and helped themselves to the eggs. That fact was discovered at 6 o'clock this morning when members of the company went over to the park to see if everything was in readiness for the hunt.

They found that everyone of the 275 eggs that had been hidden the night before had been taken. Hurrying back to the store another crate of eggs was hastily ordered, the eggs boiled, dyed, and hidden in Forsyth Park.

CHINESE REPORTED MASSACRED BY REDS

Canton, China, April 7 (AP).—Advices from the Yenchun and Yung-kong district, 140 miles south of Canton, today said that inhabitants had been massacred by Reds who were in control there.

Three thousand extremists captured the cities and set them afire. All males more than 40 years old were slain; women defamed and infamously burned.

The Canton government troops, which have been suspected of communist sympathies, ignored orders to go to the district and reinforce troops already there.

It was stated on Wednesday that troops of the Canton government in the Hoiung and Lukfung areas, 100 miles north of Hongkong, captured three Russian Reds known to have been in Canton during the bloody riots of December. They had bombs, Russian posters and other propaganda with them.

Yesterday it was stated that Reds had driven out the government troops from the Hoiung and Lukfung areas and that Swatow, which has been a place of safety for both foreigners and Chinese, was in danger.

Canton itself was quiet today.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTIONS IN IOWA TODAY

Des Moines, Iowa, April 7 (AP).—Delegates who on April 20 will decide whether Iowa's 26 votes in the Democratic national convention shall be cast for Governor Al Smith of New York or Edwin T. Meredith of Des Moines, for the presidential nomination, were being selected today in Democratic conventions in 97 of Iowa's 99 counties.

Contests between Smith and Meredith factions in Des Moines and Sioux City held the center of interest, with two sets of delegates named in each from nearly all precincts.

GRASS FIRE ENDANGERED RESIDENCES ON ANDREW ST.

Friday afternoon the fire department was called out for a grass fire which had ignited the chicken coop of John Bott at 55 Andrew street. The fire spread so rapidly that the firemen had to devote their energy to saving adjoining residences from catching fire and the coop was destroyed. While fighting the fire the department was called for another grass fire in the rear of the old Hoffmann brewery on Howe street. There was also a grass fire on Moore street that afternoon.

Poorhouse Dread Caused Woman To Poison 300

Foulke, Ark., April 7 (AP).—Dread of the poorhouse was believed to have driven 70 year old Mrs. Nancy Lynn to attempt the extermination of 300 people, the inhabitants of this lumber camp.

When virtually all of the camp's inhabitants, men, women and children were taken ill with symptoms of severe poisoning, the community well was plumbed. There over a pound of poison was found and investigation revealed that Mrs. Lynn had purchased a quantity of poison a short time ago, officers said. Today Mrs. Lynn with her brother, Morris, faced charges of assault with intent to kill.

Valuable timber holdings had been left Mrs. Lynn's children by their father and these had been sold to operators who owned the camp at which the poisoning took place. Mrs. Lynn, her children said, had tried to prevent the sale of the timber, holding to the idea that once her children had received their money she would be left penniless and a charge on the community.

Authorities, reconstructing the case, held to the theory that by exterminating the lumbermen and their families, Mrs. Lynn believed cutting of the timber would be averted and her safety from poverty insured. In jail, Mrs. Lynn would say nothing.

The poisoned were all believed today to have an even chance to recover. Children were the worst sufferers.

Eastern Nebraska Hard Hit by Storm

Will Cost Communication Companies Thousands of Dollars—Value to Growing Wheat and Benefit to Soil Inestimable.

Omaha, Neb., April 7 (AP).—An April snowstorm that cost communication companies thousands of dollars, brought the boon of moisture to thirsting wheat fields and wrote new records on the weather bureau books, had the wrecking crews busy today in eastern Nebraska.

Hundreds of workers spent the night in an effort to normalize telephone and telegraph service and clear the arteries of travel.

Business in Omaha and across the river in Council Bluffs, Iowa, stood still yesterday when the seven inch snowfall halted street cars and paralyzed communication. Radio gave the only touch with the outside world for several hours, radio amateurs and United States Army stations joining regular broadcasting stations in placing their facilities at the disposal of press associations.

Lincoln, Neb., had 19 inches of snow, a record for this time of the year. At Omaha temperatures ranging between 35 and 40 prevailed during the day, dropping early today to below freezing.

It was estimated by officials of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company that their loss would be more than $200,000 with a total of 2,700 poles down in the entire storm area. Thousands of miles of wires out of service and more than 2,700 'phones out of use.

Points out in the state as far west as Grand Island were isolated as were towns in the northeastern and southeastern sections. Grand Island established wire communication with Denver yesterday afternoon. Roads around that point were reported almost impassable.

Value of the snow to growing wheat and its benefit to the soil is inestimable, according to agricultural experts. The snow melted rapidly and better moisture distribution was effected than would have been the case if rain had fallen, it was explained.

Dual Suicide In Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Wis., April 7 (AP).—A marriage of 12 years between Oscar Haggin, 49, and his wife, Pearl, 10 years younger, was ended today in a most carefully planned and executed double suicide. A brother, Joseph Haggin of Chicago, received a letter, with a key inside yesterday, which said:

"Better come up and get our families."

On the front door was the first of a series of notes that were later found in the house.

"Do not light matches. The house is full of gas."

On the bathroom door a note said: "If these cats in here are not dead please, someone, send them to the sewer, humane society workers. Have them put to sleep. Don't throw them into the street. That would be cruel for they were raised as pets. Thanks." The cats were alive.

On the several pieces of furniture were notes explaining from whom they had been purchased, how much was owing and what disposition was to be made of them.

In their bed, side by side, in an attitude of repose, lay the two bodies.

Financial worry was the reason given for the suicides.

BELIEVE POISON LIQUOR CAUSED GIRL'S DEATH

Dedham, Mass., April 7 (AP).—Hazel Redish, 26, of West Roxbury, was fatally stricken early this morning during an automobile ride with another girl and three men. Poisonous liquor was believed by the police to have caused the death.

Three of the men, Richard French of Andover; Thomas Rosborough of Glenwood, Ark., and John Hartz of Evansville, Ind., are students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The second girl was Gladys H. Brown, 21, who roomed with Miss Redish.

The students said that when the girl collapsed they took her to the office of Dr. Arthur Worthington at Dedham, who told them to hurry her to the Dedham Hospital. Miss Redish was dead when the party got there.

SUIT AGAINST PRINCIPALS IN HALLS-MILLS TRIAL

Trenton, N. J., April 7 (AP).—Suit for $56,990 was instituted in the U. S. District Court here today by Aaron M. Blattman, fingerprint expert of 1981 Prospect avenue, New York, against Mrs. Frances Hall, Willie Stevens and Henry Stevens, all principals in the famous Halls-Mills murder trial. The action charges breach of contract.

Blattman alleges that the three defendants, through their agents, agreed to pay him certain moneys if he would submit proof, for defense use at the murder trial, that fingerprints found on a namecard near the body of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, and purporting to be those of Willie Stevens, were forged prints.

In the lakes region cloudiness will be varied with snow flurries.

Wilbur Urges Adequate Navy

Omaha, Neb., April 7 (AP).—Taking his plea for an adequate but "peaceful neutral" navy into the heart of America, secretary Wilbur declared here today that the uninterrupted continuance of overseas commerce was vital to the prosperity not only of our states, but of every citizen in the country.

Addressing the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, the secretary said an organized system of propaganda against national defense and particularly against the first line of defense—the navy—prompted the president in his last message to congress to say that "we would provide for our needs regardless of propagandists for or against an adequate navy."

In view of the efforts of those who characterize ever argument in favor of the navy as military propaganda, he cited statements of the early leaders of the country on the needs of a substantial first line defense, and said such defense would be based upon expert judgment as to the needs of the national and without propaganda, prophecies of war, invasions of financial disaster.

He urged the calm, persistent, determined and unostentatious construction of a fleet which would not only protect this nation, but would be a source of comfort to all weak nations seeking to maintain peace and avoid armed conflict.

Movie Actors in Real Life Drama

Los Angeles, April 7 (AP).—Two lifelong friends who have appeared together on the screen, today held bitter roles in a real life drama.

For the complaint under which Norman Trevor, veteran English actor, is held for hearing by the lunacy commission, was signed by H. B. Warner, his friend and fellow actor.

In one of their latest pictures together, Trevor in "Sorrell and Son," acted the part of the man who befriended Sorrell, played by Warner.

Yesterday, Warner testified before the lunacy commission that his old friend was suffering from delusions that he was immensely wealthy while in truth the veteran actor was in poor financial circumstances.

Only the day before, Warner said, Trevor had purchased $145 worth of flowers for a person he did not know. The English actor had been taken into custody charged with issuing worthless checks.

His arraignment on the lunacy complaint was set for Monday with the hearing to be held Thursday.

Trevor, who is 51 years old, was champion athlete of India in his time—1893 to 1900—competing as a star in the Olympic games.

Icebox Bandits Kill Officer

Putnam, Conn., April 7 (AP).—Unscathed as a member of a machine gun battalion which had active service in France, Irving H. Nelson, state police officer, was killed by bullets of fugitive "icebox bandits" today. Search for the slayers centered at Dudley, Mass., where they abandoned an automobile.

Looking for men who fled in an automobile after a running gun fight with a motor cycle officer in Springfield, Mass., Nelson stationed himself at a cross road last night in Pomfret, Conn. When he ordered a car to stop, six shots were fired at him. Two took effect.

In Springfield, Motorcycle Officer Raymond Gallagher was knocked from his machine by a car he had ordered to stop. Fourteen shots were fired at him and he fired three. The car he was stopping had been stolen in Worcester, Mass. It was the same one which Nelson later tried to stop, and which was found at Dudley.

Gallagher was looking for "icebox bandits," who have been looting clerks in store ice boxes after robbing stores.

Dry Agents Dump Beer in Creek

Friday afternoon the prohibition officers from the Fair street office called at the police garage for the fire ton Mack truck that they had seized on Thursday halfway between Port Ewen and Esopus, and the truck with its load of sixty half barrels of what the agents said was high powered beer was driven to Wilbur at the old stone dock and the contents of the barrels emptied into the Rondout creek. The load of another truck that had been seized recently in the city was also emptied into the creek. While the agents were at work disposing of the beer a large crowd gathered to watch them.

Debate Strength of Hoover-Lowden

Two House Republicans Debate on Paper as to Whether Lowden or Hoover Would Be the Stronger Nominee For President.

Washington, April 7 (AP).—Two House Republicans from the corn and wheat belt—Dickinson of Iowa and Newton of Minnesota—engaged today in debate on paper as to whether Lowden or Hoover would be the stronger nominee for president.

It revolved around Governor Alfred Smith of New York, who is out ahead in the race for the Democratic nomination, and the possible trend next November in the farming regions.

In a formal statement, Dickinson assumed that Smith would be the Democratic standard bearer and declared that the Republicans, to win in November, must turn to Lowden.

Coming back in another statement, Newton insisted the wise and only course for his party is to nominate Hoover. He contended the commerce secretary not only has strength in the industrial east but in the farming west.

The Iowa used figures to support his prediction that Smith would win at the polls against Hoover, but would lose if pitted against the former Illinois governor.

With 258 electoral votes needed for election, Dickinson figured that against the commerce secretary Smith would pile up 327 votes, Hoover 294. Against Lowden, he gave the New York governor only 209 electoral votes, Lowden 222.

Dickinson assumed that Smith would carry New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island, and said that Lowden could lose them and still win.

"From the trend of the present day," said Dickinson, "it must be assumed that Governor Al Smith will be the Democratic opponent."

Anyone heretofore skeptical about Smith's nomination need but examine the caucus returns from a few of the states in the middle west to realize that his nomination cannot be stopped.

"The Republican line of defense must be drawn accordingly. In the east Republican uncertainty is concerned, and with the general tendency toward unemployment, Smith will be even stronger than present day predictions. With Republican weakness in the east, we can only hope to win with Republican strength in the middle west."

Pointing out that Dickinson was conceding that Lowden could not carry New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, New Mexico, Rhode Island and Massachusetts, Newton, who is one of the Hoover stalwarts in the House, declared the Iowa representative "does his candidate an ill turn by such a disclosure to the public."

"He should communicate such information confidentially to the party leaders," declared Newton.

CANADIAN FARMERS UTILIZE AMERICAN MARKETS

St. Albans, Vt., April 7 (AP).—The extent to which the Canadian farmer utilizes American markets as an outlet for his products was indicated by the monthly report of the Vermont customs district issued today by Collector Harry C. Whitehill.

Almost 100,000 gallons of Canadian cream were imported through Vermont in March. The exact quantity was 94,550 gallons as compared to 47,429 gallons in February. Shipments of hay from Canada were 6,055 tons, a gain of 500 over the previous month's total.

The duties collected on hay amounted to $24,220. More than 250,000 pounds of Canadian maple sugar also passed the customs, yielding $10,127.52. These three imports from Canada produced almost one-half of the total revenue collected in the Vermont district during the month.

The totals customs collections in March amounted to $161,368.65, of which St. Albans collected $55,752.73, Newport $35,193.29, Isleboro $7,424, Richford $7,405, and Burlington $969.

Paris.—The light-weight woollen dress remains something desirable in the sight of fashionables. For that matter, weather permitting, so does the heavier wool costume. From the extreme of wool bourette and the several almost transparent woollens that under different trade names

There is a fine woolen stuff of many years ago, and there is flanne, another type of wool with a slightly open work or basket weave. There is also that crinkled stuff, sometimes for winter, backward glance, the courtierys of Paris have resurrected many erst-while favorites, including many others not here listed.

The cotton frock looms as an interesting possibility as warm weather approaches, nor is there any reason for organic being frowned down by those who are thinking in terms of the picturesque for the bridesmaid or the proverbially sweet girl graduate. Finely embroidered handkerchief linens in such new tones as apricot and lime came in for the lion's share of admiration at a recent French showing. These frocks were filled, a habit many frocks are acquiring, and they were sleeveless as well.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 7, 1928.

Ambassador Grew says that if he had a son he would teach him optimism, cheerfulness, tolerance, courtesy, culture—and one thing more, good humor. Some would add reverence and faith; but Ambassador Grew already proposes more than many sons are willing to be taught.

It seems that even Shakespeare has contributed to this year's left-over discussion of the third term question. At any rate, we read that when "The Merchant of Venice" was played in Washington a few nights ago the audience chuckled appreciatively at an undecided Portia exclaimed: "O me, the word choose!"

President Hibben of Princeton laments that "the youth of today is not enthusiastic about anything—it is bored." Youth is too soon bored because modern advances and opportunities have given it so much at so early an age, with the result, as Dr. Copeland suggests, that it is already sophisticated to an extent "we had to wait for till we passed middle life."

Senator Borah makes a definite stand on prohibition by political parties still more unlikely by demanding their recognition that the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are virtually the same thing and that any attempt to modify the latter is "nullification." And yet the Volstead act is only an interpretation of the amendment and, in the view of many, a faulty or unreasonable one.

RURAL BEAUTY.

It is reported that the Council for the Preservation of Rural England is really doing effective work in keeping England beautiful. Where a great estate is to be broken up for town buildings or other residential purposes, the Council is right on the job to see that no haphazard and ugly construction is allowed. Suburban development is attractive and harmonious. Natural beauty is preserved and not destroyed.

Some movement of the sort is desperately needed in this country. Here the uglification of the rural regions near industrial centers proceeds apace. Jerry building, billboards, the destruction of trees and the contamination of pretty streams follow along the trail of the automobile from the city out into the country.

Some communities have shown that such things are not necessary. But a lot of others have not yet learned the lesson.

CHOICE IN CHINA.

"China is burning with a passion to become a modern nation," says Maurice Hindus, traveler and writer. And it is going to pursue one of two courses. China will follow the course of western freedom and progress, or the course of Bolshevik blight. The educated and intelligent Chinese, he says, especially those educated in America, want to take the Anglo-Saxon path. But the peasants, who are an enormous majority, are being saturated with Russian propaganda.

So it comes back to the same old problem, with the same old choice for the western nations to make. The powers may continue to irritate China by claiming special privileges, threatening and bulldozing that country instead of treating it with respect. In that case they will drive China into the arms of Russia, despite the heroic efforts of Nationalist leaders to stem the Bolshevik tide. Or the western powers, taking their cue from American ideals of friendliness and fair play, may deal squarely and courteously with China, as an equal among nations, and thereby win that once great empire as a friend and associate for the future.

The Chinese race is worth befriending and cultivating for itself. It is doubly so because of the menace behind it. Russia has settled down to an indefinite course of Communism, and Russia is determined to dominate in Asia. The outcome of present conflicts in China will vitally affect America for a century.

MOST HEADACHES FROM SIMPLE CAUSES.

Although it must be admitted that some headaches are due to tumors and to inflammatory conditions in the brain, nevertheless the majority are due to simple causes.

And as the causes are really simple, therefore the cure and prevention of headache, is generally not hard to accomplish.

Common causes are: poisoning from overeating, working too hard mentally and physically, thin blood, and blood that is "too rich." These headaches are not inside the brain proper, but in the muscles that cover the head.

The headache of fatigue and overwork is due to the over production of lactic acid, which if not carried away by the circulation, causes pain in the muscles.

In headache due to anaemia, or thin blood it is because there is not enough iron and oxygen in the blood, and the lack of oxygen allows the accumulation of too much lactic acid in the muscles.

A simple experiment is to hold the arm out at full length from the shoulder with elbow straight. In a very few minutes the shoulder will ache because the muscles holding the arm outstretched have been manufacturing lactic acid faster than the circulation can remove it. Products from over eating or improper food, and products from waste material in the large intestine, will so poison the blood that when it gets up to the head it will not be able to carry away the ordinary waste from that region, and pain results.

There is of course pain in the head due to overuse of the eyes, and to bad teeth, which is really poison also. Now there is only one point to all this.

The headache is really due to the lack of power on the part of the blood to remove wastes quickly enough.

Or take it the other way, which is that there is not enough oxygen in the blood to overcome these wastes.

I believe you can see my point. If you are willing to eat sensibly, and not allow yourself to be constipated half the battle is won.

The other half may be won if you are willing to walk outdoors and get some real fresh air loaded with oxygen, which as you know, will overcome the poison in the blood.

Now although it would be quite easy to name thirty causes for headache, with the exception of these due to tumors, or to infectious ailments of the brain and its coverings, nearly all of them can be relieved by watching the food, rest and exercise.

Movie Star

Five-year-old Ethel had never attended a picture show, but had heard her brothers and sisters talk a great deal about the "movie stars." One evening Ethel was out riding with her parents after dark. It was a new experience to Ethel to be out driving late enough to see the stars, and she was very much interested in watching them. One bright star in particular attracted her attention, and as the machine moved Ethel thought the star was moving and said, "Mamma, that must be a movie star."

One Thing Missing

Mrs. Newlywed rushed in from the kitchen, a smoking pie dish in her hands. She placed it on the table in front of her husband.

"There, dear," she cooed, "that's a cottage pie."

"I'd have known it was cottage pie," he remarked after the first few mouthfuls.

"You would?" she asked, delighted.

"Yes," he replied. "I can taste the stretched roof and the crazy paving. But what did you do with the bricks?"

Fairy Story: "Once upon a time there was a girl named Mary Ann who opened a beauty parlor which she did not decide to name the Marie Antoinette Salon."

MONTHLY MEETING OF NEW ERA LEAGUE.

The regular monthly business meeting of the New Era League, First Presbyterian Church, was held Wednesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Graham, called the meeting to order. Mrs. Fred Green had charge of the devotional service, which was followed by the usual business meeting.

As this was the close of the fiscal year, the annual reports were given by the secretary-treasurer and all the chairmen of the various committees.

The reports showed that the League was flourishing and much work had been accomplished along all the lines of their various activities during the past year.

An invitation to attend the annual Presbyterian meeting to be held in Union Church, Newburgh, on April 20, was extended to every member.

Mrs. Longyear was asked to look after a bus, and all those who can go, please notify her by Thursday, April 12th.

A letter from Mrs. Imrie, one of our missionaries in Sakayene, Cameroon, Africa, was read, describing her work.

Mrs. Graham then introduced Miss Dougherty, who sang a soprano solo, "The Lord in My Shepherd," which was so much appreciated that she sang an encore "Thou Wilt Keep Him in Perfect Peace."

The speaker of the afternoon was Dr. Cantine, a missionary from Arabia, who was introduced by Dr. Cady.

Dr. Cantine told how he first went out to Arabia as a young man, with Dr. Zwemer. They were not married, and had been told that Arabia was no place for a woman and it would hardly be possible to marry and take a wife out to their mission station, Muscat, Arabia.

But in a short time they both did marry, and Dr. Cantine found that his wife was a great help in his work.

A Moslem woman was not allowed to talk to or meet men outside of her own family. But his wife had entrance to the harem where the doctor could not go. He said these Moslem girls were married as young as 12 years old, and there were several older wives in the harem. If her husband for any slight reason tired of her, she was divorced. These child wives are very pitiful and came to his wife often for comfort, but he always had to get out of the house or out of sight before they would come in. However, things have progressed much, and he may sit in his study and they will say "Salaam" as they pass his open door.

The Arab, said Dr. Cantine, is a proud, self-reliant, self-respecting person. The Mohammedan religion is a religion for men and not a woman's religion. Their work among the women was the most promising part of their activities. He also told of the improvement in transportation. After they landed in Arabia it used to take two months to cover the five hundred miles to their station. Now they go by auto and possibly airplane and it takes a few days.

Dr. Cantine is home on a furlough and is staying in Stone Ridge at the present time. He expects to return to Arabia in the near future.

You Need Not Believe

Confidence in one's physical adviser is desirable, for mental attitude is sometimes a part of a physical ill, but Chiropractic gets results in spite of disbelief on the patient's part. Such a case is that of Mr. Taylor, whose experience is described below.

Chiropractic is entirely different than any other health method—albeit it (like other worth-while things) does have its imitators. Chiropractic is a tried and tested method, and in no sense of the word is it on trial, or is it an experiment. When Chiropractic first became known, it was tried only after everything else had failed. In thirty-two years, it has built up a marvelous record of results with so-called "incurable" cases. No health method had a more difficult assignment, and the fact that Chiropractic has succeeded in the face of bitter opposition, is the finest tribute in the world to its sound scientific basis as a means of restoring health to sick people.

J. L. MacKINNON.

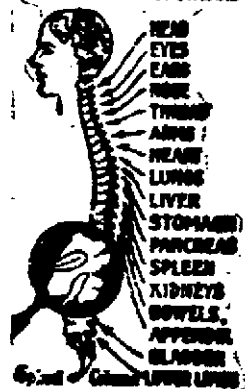

HIS CANE NOW DISCARDED.

"For months I had been suffering from Sciatica. I was in such condition I couldn't sleep, work or rest, and was hobbling about on a cane. A friend suggested that I try Chiropractic. I was backward about investigating Chiropractic, figuring it would be like all the other things I had tried, without results, but the time came when I was willing to try anything. Treatments were started, and I will frankly say that I was relieved from the first one. I laid my cane aside after the fourth treatment and haven't picked it up since. It has now been a year since my treatments, and in this time I have not lost a day's work, nor have I had any return of the trouble."—Grant Taylor, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 2688-K.

Our success is due to our policy of never accepting cases that we can not benefit.

In addition to the training received at the world's most prominent Chiropractic universities, supplemented by thirteen years' actual practice and observation, we have originated and are using our own system of painless treatment which is a distinct advance over methods commonly in use.

TEXACO

A new gasoline experience—
actually—NEW MILES per gallon

It is a fact that the new Texaco does give better results—measurably better. It has at once overcome the limitations of the older type of engine and enhanced the performance of the new.

You can't be mistaken. You see the record of actual miles rolling up on your speedometer. You notice the ample gasoline reserve and the fewer filling stops. Your car is the same, but the new and better Texaco is a different gasoline—more miles to the tankful.

That's the difference between dry gas and wet! The new and better Texaco, vaporizing to a dry gas, enters the cylinders and ignites instantly. It burns freely and delivers all its power in that split fraction of a second of the power-stroke.

Wherever you stop for gasoline, see to it that your car draws up beside the Texaco pump. Look for the Texaco Red Star and Green T.

Not WET But DRY

A wet gas is an atomized mixture of gasoline vapor with liquid drops of raw gasoline. These drops, separating at every manifold bend, result in uneven distribution and loss of power.

A dry gas, the new and better Texaco, vaporizes completely. It is a perfect mixture of dry gasoline vapor and air which provides an even flow of fuel and power to every engine cylinder.

HIGH TEST

If you aren't using the new and better Texaco Gasoline now, it's high time you started.

In every particular it is a "high test" gasoline. Starts easily; responds like a flash, and is there with plenty of power.

Best of all, it is easy on the valves and forms a very minimum of carbon.

SPRING NOVELTY DANCE

AT SAWKILL CHURCH HALL

The Spring Novelty Dance held at St. Ann's Hall, Sawkill, about this time last year so successful that it was deemed advisable socially to repeat the affair again this year. Many of the Kingston young folks are interested and the date set is the Wednesday after Easter, April 11. Excellent music has been secured for the occasion and a good time is promised to all who attend. Through the kindness of Phelan & Cahill, local dealers, a ton of coal—always acceptable—will be given away during the evening to some individual. Sawkill is about five miles from Kingston, over a good road, and on account of its natural beauty and rugged scenery is an ideal locality for a spring social affair.

Audit Discloses Shortage But, Also Host of Friends

EVERYBODY in the borough of East Newark, N. J., knows Jimmy Degnan, gassed war veteran and tax collector.

So, when an audit of the books showed a shortage, the audit must be wrong. Even if it is right, Jimmy's loyal friends are sure that he was just careless.

Besides, they are taking extraordinary measures to make up the deficit, and their minds are all made up to re-elect Tax Collector Degnan in June.

Degnan, now thirty-five, was a Captain in a fighting infantry outfit. He brought home a case of gas, a touch of shellshock and a bad leg, regarding all of which he had little to say. His popularity does not rest on these infirmities.

Jimmy has a tiny real estate business for the support of Mrs. Jimmy and their three children. As a notary public he is entitled to collect a fee of 50 cents, but for more than 7,000 times he has acted he has never accepted a penny.

Jimmy resigned a week ago when the shortage was reported. His friends promptly retained a lawyer and the lawyer has put two accountants to work on an independent audit.

The American Legion Post has voted to turn over its building fund, amounting to about $2,500, if Jimmy really is short. The Ladies' Auxiliary of this post is arranging a card party to raise an additional sum. East Newark is a community without a movie, having set a $10,000 license fee deliberately. Precedent will be broken, however, for Jimmy when a special showing of official war scenes, obtained from the Government, will be held to help swell the fund.

JIMMY DEGNAN
(International Illustrated News)

"I never took a dime of that money," Jimmy says, "but I have spells off and on, when I'm kind of in a fog. It sure has got my goat!" All his friends believe him, which, after all, is everything a man can ask.

Washington Society Notes

Washington, April 7 (AP)—Washington society is fully prepared for a particularly brilliant post-Lenten season which starts off with the annual breakfast at Friendship, suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hale McKean, and proceeds unabated for several weeks.

The McKean breakfast on Easter Sunday is a tradition, having been instituted by Mrs. John R. McKean more than thirty years ago, and embracing as guests the president and first lady of the land—the President and Mrs. Coolidge have been guests several times—members of the cabinet, the higher officials of the government and many of the ambassadors and ministers from foreign countries and their families.

It is an old-fashioned repast of hot waffles, honey, dainty salads and such things, but especially waffles. A regiment of servants pass in solemn procession among the guests, bearing large trays of piping hot waffles and golden yellow butter, steaming coffee and other good things, but always waffles. The late John R. McKean, father of the host of tomorrow, often joined in serving his guests when they arrived en masse, and not infrequently one would see an ambassador or a cabinet member assisting.

In passing out of official life in Washington—as all officials must sooner or later do either by death or defeat, Mrs. William Howard Taft, whose position can only be taken from her by the death or resignation of her husband, Chief Justice of the United States, will leave behind her the most beautiful memorial the Capital has ever known, the flowering Japanese cherry trees which now invite thousands of tourists to the city.

From every section of the country America's best come to view the far-famed picture.

Every morning and afternoon Mrs. Taft herself circles the basin in Potomac Park in which are reflected the blossoms, and with her friends she enjoys the longer drive about Haines Point along whose roadway the later blossoming trees are planted. The trees are not expected to be in full bloom until next week. It was in 1909 that Mrs. Taft, who had spent much time in Japan at cherry blossom time, accepted the suggestion of Miss Eliza R. Scidmore, an authority on Japan in this country, with the result that the first trees were planted here under the personal direction of Mrs. Taft when first lady of the land.

The Ambassador of Japan and Mrs. Matsudaira and their family resort to the driveway every day to drink in a little home atmosphere and always the members of the ambassador's staff visit the scene and frequently pose to tourists under the blossoming boughs.

Easter Monday marks the birthday anniversary of Mrs. William M. Jardine, who instituted the unusual custom on coming into the cabinet of President Coolidge. She ascertained the date of birth of each lady of the executive family and on those days she sends flowers and good wishes. Mrs. Jardine is generous with the flowers allotted to her as wife of the secretary of agriculture and it was from her that most of the flowers used on the tables at the Congressional Club Breakfast April 11 were to come. However, the breakfast has been indefinitely postponed because Mrs. Coolidge, in whose honor it was to have been held, still is in Northampton, Mass., where she is held by the uncertain condition of her mother, Mrs. Goodhue.

The Vice President and Mrs. Daves have issued engraved invitations—most of the diplomats have their invitation cards printed—for a dinner to be given in the Pan-American Union Building the night of April 12, when they will exhaust their social calendar of almost all its obligations. These clearing-house dinners and luncheons will continue from now until congress closes.

These social clearing-house affairs also have their drawbacks, for at a dinner given a week ago at the fashionable Cherry Chase Club in honor of the Minister of Egypt and Mme. Samy and the Minister of Persia, Mirza Davoud Khan Mefteh, most punctilious diplomat, the hostess and her husband arrived almost an hour late themselves, the seating plan and even the list of guests was misplaced, and at least a dozen more guests arrived than were provided for.

While the guests arrived and all eyes were turned toward the door for the hosts, the guests of honor took their places and were greeted. Mme. Samy finally had to sit down, after standing for an hour, and turning her pretty head to one side, said naively, "When my feet are so so tired, I forget my English."

And the belated hostess? Who knows, it happened just so when a dinner was given a few months ago in honor of the Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft, and then, as on the more recent occasion, many of the guests left before the hostess arrived, and on both occasions the guests just went in out of order and took any place at the table they chose.

Just in time for the Easter freshest of entertaining comes Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Grand Rapids, Mich., to replace the late Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris, and with him was Mrs. Vandenberg and their three children, Arthur H., Jr., Barbara, and Betty Vandenberg. They have a suite at The Willard, that historic structure from which Lincoln went to his inaugural and which has always been a popular place for officials. Senator and Mrs. Vandenberg are not likely to take a house this season.

We Are All Bored

An outstanding fact in life is that we bore each other: the habits and notions of many worthy people drive other fairly worthy people to distraction. Most books, most plays, most events public and private, bore us. Popularity is to be fairly agreeable to a few, and unknown to the many.

The old are tiresome to the young I doubt if they realize it, but the young are tiresome to the old.

The time men and women do not devote to denouncing each other, they devote to seeking and boring each other. Always remember that whatever you do, and wherever you go, you are a pest to many. Therefore behave as well as possible.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

An Old Map

The family was enjoying a delicious pineapple dessert for dinner. A younger member of the circle inquired of his wise father where most of the pineapple came from. The father explained that most of it came from the Hawaiian Islands in the "Atlantic" ocean. An older daughter told her father he was mistaken about their location. After a heated argument an old geography was found in the attic. The daughter soon found the Hawaiian Islands in the Pacific ocean.

"Now, daddy, what you got to say? Who was right?" said the counterpart of father.

"That's an old geography. We'll have to buy us a new map," replied the invincible father.

Believe It or Not!

Good Friday Beliefs in Parts of England

How Good Friday got its name is a matter that is often discussed. The word Friday is really the strangest part of the name of so solemn a date in the Christian calendar. Few realize that in saying Friday they are commemorating a pagan deity, Freya, the Scandinavian Venus.

In France Good Friday is called Passion Friday; in Germany, Quiet Friday; and in Italy, the Blessed Friday.

Good Friday in former days enabled the careful citizen to save his fire insurance policy, for it was believed that an egg laid on that day would extinguish any fire on which it was thrown.

Bread baked on Good Friday was supposed to have its protective value, for it was believed that three loaves put in a heap of corn would prevent the latter from being devoured by rats and mice. An infant born on Good Friday was supposed to possess the power of curing fevers.

There are some things to be avoided on Good Friday. West-country people consider it a sin to wash any clothes on that day. They declare that should you do so you are likely to lose your most valued possession before the year is out.—London Answers.

Difficult Process

A voice-controlled machine was invented and displayed recently in London. It will start and stop at the sound of the voice. The end is not yet. There is no reason why eventually machines can't be invented to react as humans do so virtually every physical contact. Thinking, however, probably will always be beyond the power of a machine, as it sometimes seems it is beyond the power of many men.—Archives Globe.

Albany Attorneys In Knapp Case

Albany, N. Y., April 7 (AP).—Barkhoff and Conway, Albany attorneys, have been retained as counsel to Mrs. Florence E. Knapp, former secretary of state, charged with maladministration of the 1925 state census. It was announced today by John J. Conway, who will act as chief of the defense counsel.

Mr. Conway will move in supreme court next Wednesday to have the date of Mrs. Knapp's trial fixed as late as possible this month. In order to allow time for preparation of her defense, George Z. Medallie, state prosecutor, will demand, however, that the trial start on April 16. No details of the defense case have been formulated as yet, Mr. Conway declared. Mrs. Knapp will return to Albany next Tuesday, and after appearing in court on the following day, probably will remain in the city for the duration of the case.

Conway is a Republican leader in Albany, and a member of the Republican State Committee, while his partner, Earl Barkhoff, is a Democratic leader in the town of Guildersland, near here. Conway served from 1912 to 1922 as assistant district attorney of Albany county, and has figured in several outstanding cases in Eastern New York.

Many Angles to Case in Court

Original Litigation Decided Several Years Ago But Case Lingers Because of Claim for $1,500, With $500 at Stake.

Judge Ellis J. Staley of Albany held the regular special term of the Supreme court at the court house today and signed a number of orders in cases in which there was no opposition.

Among the cases argued was that of William Budd against Emma Jakob, in which a motion was made by defendant to open an order granted by Judge George H. Smith of Monticello on March 13 dismissing the proceeding after the defendant had failed to comply with a previous order directing that an itemized statement of defendant's claim be filed within ten days. Vernon Kelder of Ellenville appeared for the defendant and the motion, which was opposed by Amos Van Etten, who appeared specially for the plaintiff and who had obtained the order dismissing the proceeding. Mr. Van Etten said he was through with the case after determination of this motion.

The original action was brought to foreclose a chattel mortgage covering furniture in a hotel in the town of Wawarsing, in which there were charges of usury in connection with a loan of $1,000. There have been many hearings and numerous motions by attorneys since the litigation started over five years ago. The sum of $500 was deposited by plaintiff at the time a bond was given in connection with a temporary injunction, and plaintiff seeks the return of this sum by the Indemnity Company which furnished the bond. The defendant contends there is money owing him on a claim which has not been determined, and Mr. Kelder stated that this claim was for $1,500. Mr. Van Etten said that for years he had been trying to learn the amount of the claim and never knew before how much it was.

Judge Rosch has fixed September 9 of last year as the time for hearing the claim at the court house in this city, but according to Mr. Van Etten nobody came to court that day except himself, and he waited for an hour. Later it came, before Judge Smith of Monticello, who on March 3 ordered that an itemized statement of the defendant's claim to be filed within ten days, and set the case for trial before him at the present special term. The defendant, however, did not file any statement, and after more than ten days elapsed, Mr. Van Etten secured an order from Judge Smith dismissing the proceeding. The original litigation had been terminated by a judgment several years ago, said Mr. Van Etten, who claimed his adversary had no standing in court on this motion.

Regarding the claim of $1,500, Mr. Van Etten said he had never been able to learn from Judge Cunningham what the claim was about, or its amount, but that Judge Cunningham had been paid $1,000 in a $2,000 law suit.

At the close of the argument, Judge Staley said he thought the claim mentioned by Mr. Kelder should have been determined in the trial of the action in which the injunction had been granted and the bond given, and he was frank to say that he did not understand it. He inquired whether all the facts stated by the attorneys or referred to by them appeared in the papers of the attorneys. On being assured that all facts concerning the case since it was started were fully stated, he took the papers, reserving decision.

Governor Vetoes Sargent Bill

Albany, N. Y., April 7 (AP).—In a continuation of his "omnibus veto" Governor Smith today disapproved the Sargent bill designed to give the state political committees greater control over their own membership. The bill was generally understood to have for its main purpose equal representation of men and women on the state committees.

Under the Sargent bill a state committee would have been empowered to make its own rules as to number of members, qualifications including sex, and units of representation from which its members should be elected. The continuation of the "omnibus veto" contained 19 bills. The first section, issued two days ago, contained 45 bills. The Governor today also signed 25 measures, bringing the total number of chapters of the 1928 laws so far to 874.

The Governor is understood to have remaining in his hands for consideration only one more bill. He is expected to act on this same time today, thereby setting a new record for disposal of thirty-day bills. When the legislature adjourned, March 22, it left more than 500 bills for the Governor to act on within 30 days.

Separation Suit Tried.

The action for separation brought by Anna Cinquemani against Victor Cinquemani was tried before Judge Staley at the regular special term of the supreme court at the court house today. Judge Staley directed that findings be submitted. Walter J. Miller appeared for the plaintiff; the defendant did not appear.

Final Tribute to C. M. Depew

New York, April 7 (AP).—Bustling New York paused in its activities today to pay its final tribute to the memory of one of its oldest and most beloved citizens, Chauncey M. Depew, "the man without an enemy."

Fifth avenue, one of the world's most beautiful thoroughfares, was hushed in the vicinity of 53rd street as the funeral services were held at St. Thomas's Protestant Episcopal Church, just around the corner from the brownstone mansion where the 93 years old statesman, railroad executive, wit and orator, died on Thursday.

Crowds of late Easter shoppers in the smart shops paused in the brilliant sunshine of a balmy spring day and stood silently near the stately edifice. Forty policemen were stationed nearby. Flags flew at half staff from many buildings.

Inside the church were gathered some of the most distinguished citizens of this country. They represented great business and social organizations with which Depew had been associated for many years. Every pew was occupied and many stood in the rear of the church.

The solemn, impressive ritual of the denomination was in charge of old-time friends—Bishop Ernest M. Stiles of Long Island, Bishop William T. Manning of New York and the rector, the Rev. R. H. Brooks. The vested boys' choir of the church sang.

The solemn, impressive ritual of the denomination was in charge of old-time friends—Bishop Ernest M. Stiles of Long Island, Bishop William T. Manning of New York and the rector, the Rev. R. H. Brooks. The vested boys' choir of the church sang.

The coffin was covered with a blanket of red roses, on the center of which was a white cross of Easter lilies. The chancel rail was banked high with an array of glorious floral tributes, conspicuous among them was a wreath, five feet in diameter of red roses, gardenias and lavender statias, sent by the board of directors of the New York Central Railroad, of which Depew was chairman of the board at the time of his death.

Other floral pieces were sent by the City of St. Augustine, Fla., where Depew wintered for many years; the village of Peekskill, his birthplace; the Peekskill Military Academy, his "prep" school; Yale University, the Scottish rite thirty-third degree Masons, Kane Lodge of Free Masons; the National Republican Club; the Lotus Club, the Society of the Cincinnati, the Sons of the American Revolution, the Pilgrims, and scores of other organizations and individuals.

After the church ceremonies, the funeral cortege, escorted by police, proceeded up town and through the Hudson river towns to Peekskill, where interment was made in the family mausoleum just outside the village. State Troopers met the procession outside the city limits at Yonkers, and other relays of troopers joined the party at various towns. Peekskill suspended all activities during the interment.

32 More Forest Fires Reported

Albany, N. Y., April 7 (AP).—Thirty-two forest fires were reported to the New York state department of Conservation today, bringing the total for the past three days up to seventy-seven.

In Columbia and Rensselaer counties, 12 fires were reported, the largest of which, covering an area of 200 acres in the town of Taghkanic, Columbia county, destroyed 125 acres of timber, a house and barn, with furniture and farm equipment. It required the efforts of 150 men to prevent this fire from destroying other farm buildings.

A fire in the town of Crescent, Saratoga county, destroyed a barn. Two fires were reported in Long Island; three in the Catskills, six in Dutchess county and seven in the counties of Rockland and Orange.

While all fires are under control, according to the department, they are not extinguished, and men have been assigned to watch them until the danger is over.

Only a heavy rain can reduce the fire hazard in the eastern part of the state caused by the hot, dry weather of the past few days, officials of the department declared today.

RADIO STATIONS AWAIT WORD FROM WILKINS

Seward, Alaska, April 7 (AP).—Radio stations again awaited word of Captain George H. Wilkins' hop-off from Point Barrow for Spitzbergen, 2,100 miles away on the other side of the North Pole. For two days they had listened fruitlessly for a message that Wilkins and his pilot, Lieut. Ben Eielson, had headed out from the northernmost point of Alaska into the blind spot of the Arctic. Wilkins raided that cloudy weather had kept his plane on the ice Thursday, the date set for his take-off. He was silent yesterday and last night it was assumed that the weather had not improved. Hope that conditions would change and the plane start today kept government operators at their posts.

Cincinnati—Bread fresh for eight days, orange juice for six months. The process has been developed at the University of Cincinnati. Light waves kill the bacteria.

Southampton, England—When it comes to automobiles there's no doubt who is boss. Mrs. Foster Welch, mayor of Southampton, who wants a factory here, sought the aid of Mrs. Henry Ford, saying: "We women must stand together." And Mrs. Ford replied: "We certainly must. But Mr. Ford himself must decide. I have nothing to do with that."

New York—The secret of a dress reform sponsored by Paris is out. Edna Freeman, dress designer back from the marts of fashion, attributes to a revolt of age against youth the fact that skirts three inches below the knee are deemed elderly wives of bankers who finance Paris modistes have laid down the law because they find the present revealing modes a great handicap for matrons.

Rome—Heinrich Koehler, finance minister of Germany, has been in a convent this week, making an Easter retreat, while S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations, and Count Volpi, Italian finance minister, have been conferring.

West Point, N. Y.—Tom Jenkins, wrestler, on whom Yousoff, the Terrible Turk inflicted "severe injuries that indirectly caused death," has to laugh. Now teaching our future generals how to grapple, Tom would like to show an active corpse to William A. Brady, who in a current magazine article describes his experience while managing the Turk.

New York—"Peaches" has just had a horrid experience. She had to go home from the theatre by taxi-cab. A deputy sheriff seized a big limousine that was waiting outside during her act. It belonged to Edgar Allen, who is no longer her manager, and there is some litigation about payments on it.

Dubuque, Iowa—Ed Dickson, air mail pilot, has his ups and downs. Since becoming an aviator during the war he has made 19 parachute leaps. In his latest, he descended 2,000 feet from a burning plane.

VETERAN DAIRYMAN WRITES ABOUT CONDITIONS
Delhi, N. Y., April 7.—What many farmers think of the present chaotic conditions of the dairy industry is well expressed in an article by a veteran dairyman of this section published by the Delhi Express. This farmer-writer says:

Just a word from an outsider regarding the milk muddle and cutting the price for March. Why find fault with Sheffield Producers Co.? What else could they do? They had milk to sell with nothing to fall back on to take care of the milk—simply a wish for more money with nothing back to enforce it. The Unity Producers, the same—just a wish with no power. The League, with not much more to control the market, followed suit, and so producers are 47 per cent out with winter cows dropping off in quantity and feed going up in price.

Now plain common sense will show that if Sheffield Producers had the selling of all three organizations' milk, with full equipment to handle the milk at home, let the market have what they were willing to pay, cost of production for and keep all milk out of the market that would not pay expenses, and work it into by-products, that does away with all surplus. The Unity Producers can do the same if they have the milk and facilities to handle it. If the market does not want it, the League has and is now making a brave effort to solve the problem, but with the equipment to handle the milk of many with the milk of a few it drags downward.

Give the League a chance. If never has had one. Farmers, if you think the League is a damage, then starve it out. Why ask a few men to keep the market steady and lose money keeping up the league, if it is a curse. Why not all drop back to the same men that you almost on your knees a few years ago begged to take your milk at 45 cents per cwt.? They are good fellows now they have reformed, are willing to draw milk any distance from nothing to 10 or 15 cents per cwt. Now, men be honest. You know that nothing is keeping you from one company able to handle the milk but those few cents that the dealer pays extra for no other purpose except to keep the farmers divided, but in the end is less than all could have if united. One cent per quart for March would help out on feed bills. Think it over.

AN OUTSIDER.

America's Motto

When John Adams was minister to Great Britain in 1787 it was suggested to him that the Latin phrase meaning "out of many, one" would make a fitting motto for the new independent colonies. On his return to America he transferred the suggestion to his friend, Charles Thompson, secretary of congress, who in 1782 reported his design for a government seal in which the phrase, E Pluribus Unum, appeared on a ribbon held in an eagle's beak.

Supplemental Meal

"Thin" or "fat" the more usual terms, is the name of a light report between breakfast and lunch, says the Liberator Magazine. It is derived from an old northern English word "tiff" meaning to drink, sip or quaff. The tiff is a general custom only in India. The refreshments at the tiff usually consist of curried foods and fruits. Sometimes the word "tiff" is applied in England and this country to any lunch, especially in the afternoon between the midday meal and dinner or supper.

For Repairing

Plaster of paris is useful for repairing articles in the home, but it will not withstand water very well. It is a good idea when preparing the plaster to mix with milk instead of water, but the milk must be absolutely fresh. Plaster prepared in this way will resist dampness to a considerable degree. The only difference in the working is that the plaster does not become hard quite as rapidly, which is really an advantage, as it allows a longer time in which to do a job of repairing.

FREEMAN WANT ADS. BRING RESULTS

Experts Pick Yanks to Repeat

New York, April 7. (AP)—The poor showing of the New York Yankees in their spring training games has failed to shake the confidence of the big league experts who believe the Yankees will repeat as champions of the American League.

These baseball experts may be wrong for a fall, as most of them did last year when they picked the Athletics to win, but 75 per cent of those polled by the Associated Press this spring are convinced that Babe Ruth and his mates will repeat.

Forty-two out of forty-three writers and sports men who contributed their opinions to the annual survey of the Associated Press picked the Yankees to make it three straight champions. Tossing out the results of southern exhibitions, these critics believe that even though the race this year may be closer than in 1924, when the Yankees finished 11th out of 16, there is no reason to doubt that the powerful attack of the New Yorkers will again be dominant.

Of the handful of experts who predict the Yankees will be dumped off their 15th perch, five select the Athletics, led by Cobb and Speaker, as pennant-winners, while two name the Washington Senators as first choice.

The minority places the Yankees second in six selections and third in one list.

In sharp contrast to the National League selections, where the Pirates are choices in a wide range of opinion, there is remarkably little difference of opinion about the rating of American League clubs. In fact they are picked right down the line to finish exactly as they did last fall.

The Detroit Tigers round out the first division in the consensus and a pennant contending "big four" that is conceded a big edge over the other half of the circuit. In fact only four critics think well enough of the chances of any of the other teams to pick them for first division berths. Three of these ballots go to the Chicago White Sox and one to the Cleveland Indians.

The White Sox are rated fifth and Cleveland sixth in the state, with the Browns conceded only a slight edge over the Boston Red Sox in the battle to escape last place.

ROUNDOUTS TO OPEN

SEASON APRIL 15.

The Roundout A. C. will start the season on Sunday, April 15, against the Wilbur representatives at Block Park, ahead street. On Sunday, April 22, the Rosendale baseball team will oppose the Roundouts at Block Park and Saturday, June 2, the latter nine will journey to Poughkeepsie to stack up against the State Hospital team.

The Roundout A. C. is under the management of Art Golnek, who successfully handled the nine last season, and he expects to keep his boys busy throughout the season. Games will be played during the week at Block Park and it is expected that the evening battles will draw large attendances as they did last year. Practice sessions have been held and the Roundouts hope to be in good shape to meet Wilbur on April 15.

Manager Golnek will have four pitchers to call upon to hurt against Wilbur. Ken Best, Phil Peters, Jimmy Doyle and Joe Coughlin, who did mound work for the team last year, have again signed for duty. Joe Dulin will do the catching for the Roundouts. Hank Cragan and Jimmy Merritt will start the game in the battery position for Wilbur.

52 BIDDING FOR PLACES ON POUGHKEEPSIE TEAM

There are 52 candidates trying out for the Poughkeepsie High School varsity baseball team. Coach Sam Kalloch, who will handle the team has not returned from Chicago where his basketball quintet recently lost out in the national tournaments at the University of Chicago, to take up activities with the diamond performers but expects to have plans completed by April 15. While awaiting the return of Kalloch, prospective team members are making themselves ready for advanced tutelage. Mansolillo and Grubb are the most promising candidates for the hurler's berth. Rymph, captain of the basketball team, who is capable of twirling a good game, may not try out for the mound. It is expected that he will save his arm for the shot put. He won the sectional championship in this branch of athletics last year by a heave of more than 45 feet.

Grade School Swim at Y.M.C.A.

The annual swimming campaign for the grade school boys will be held again this year during the Easter vacation, beginning Monday at 8:50 in the Y. M. C. A. pool. The campaign will last for five days, ending Friday morning at 12:15 o'clock. Each boy will, by this method, have received five periods of instruction and it is expected that each boy will know the fundamentals of swimming at the end of his course.

Any grade school boy 11 years of age or over who cannot swim is eligible to come in. All he has to do is sign up with the principal of his school and bring a written permit from his parents. Instructions will be given by the physical director of the Y. M. C. A. and supervision of dressing room, entrance and exit, will be taken care of by high school boys appointed for the purpose.

Last year there were 12 boys that took advantage of the opportunity and they all enjoyed themselves to the utmost. The methods used are the approved American Red Cross Life Saving Methods which means that there is no rough stuff pulled at all. Each boy receives individual directions and great pains are taken with those boys that have a tendency to be afraid of the water. The water of the pool will be heated to a desirable temperature for instructions so as to eliminate as far as possible the chances of taking cold.

The time period for each school is as follows:
First period: Into building, 8:50; School No. 5.
Second period: Into building, 9:20; School No. 6.
Third period: Into building, 9:50; School No. 8.
Fourth period: Into building,

NATIONAL INTERSCHOOL BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Chicago, April 7. (AP)—The National Interscholastic Basketball Championship for 1925 will go to a team from either the south or mid-west.

This was assured today when Cincinnati, Ill., drew Grand Forks, N. D., and Ashland, Ky., drew Vienna, Ga., in the semi-finals of the University of Chicago's National Tournament. The winners will meet tonight for the title.

In winning its way into the semi-final rounds last night the strong Vienna five ended the meteoric tournament career of that mountain team from Carr Creek, Ky., the smallest community to be represented in the tournament and probably the most aggressive. The smooth passing combination of the Vienna team was too much for Carr Creek's first citizens and they succumbed, 22 to 11.

CHANDLERS TO MEET KERHONKSON TONIGHT.

The Chandlers are scheduled to meet the Kerhonkson High School quintet at the Y. M. C. A. court tonight. The tilt will be the second of the season between the two teams in which the Kerhonkson boys expect to even matters with the Chandlers who lagged the first meeting. Joe Hoffman is expected to augment the Chandler lineup tonight after a layoff of some time. Fox, Kennedy, Krum, Bliss, Niles, Dulin and Spalt, regular players, will be ready to take the floor against Kerhonkson.

10:20, School No. 7.
Fifth period: Into building, 10:50; Schools No. 1 and 2.
Sixth period: Into building, 11:20; Schools No. 3 and 4.
Days: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Results of the Major Contests

New York April 7. (AP)—New York baseball clubs are back in major league territory today after a sudden suggestion of a belated Yankee effort to share in the glory that has been the Giants' on a triumphant spring journey through the south.

Playing at Charlotte, N. C., yesterday, the World Champions took advantage of a sensational advance in the home run market to score 23 runs against 10 by the local Hornets of the Sally League. The American Leaguers went ahead of their National League rivals for total scoring in a spring game, but McGraw's men retained the inning title. The Yankees' best was 11 in one frame while the Giants counted 17 in one inning at Chattanooga when the final score was 15 to 8. Charlotte scored ten rounds, the Yankees' batting proved better than their pitching.

The game at Charlotte permitted Lou Gehrig to qualify for 1925 with his first home runs of the practice period. He smashed two out of the park, but his partner in crime against pitchers, the Big Babe, matched his effort and ran his string for April to four.

The Giants also collected their quota of glory by stopping Washington for the sixth time in a row. The Senators won the first game of the inter-league series in March and have not been able to repeat. The Giants marched to their 13th straight victory by a score of 10 to 2, another pitcher finishing the job he started. Jim Chaplin, the former collegian, demonstrated that he could pitch a ball game.

Extra efforts were needed in the Philadelphia city series, the Athletics downing the Phillies 6 to 5 in 11 innings. Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, Connie Mack's grand old men, figured at bat and afield.

As the Boston Braves are beating their way slowly toward New York to open the National League season, Captain Rogers Hornsby is standing alone on the quarter deck of the ship. His manager, Jack Slater, has been summoned to Boston to confer with President Emil Fuchs on the welfare of both the Braves and its adjunct, the Providence Club. This conference caused Boston fans to wonder if Hornsby was to be manager, captain and leading batsman, but the president disclaimed any intention of letting Slater go before he starts.

The champion Pirates who have found the west an unprofitable battleground fell 6 to 3 before the Detroit Tigers at Dallas, Texas. Burleigh Grimes got out before much of the shooting started.

Eighteen year old Mel Harder could not hold a lead George Uhle turned over to him and Louisville scored five runs in one inning to stop the Cleveland Indians, 6 to 5.

Ted Lyons was too tough for Indianapolis and the White Sox won a light hitting game, 4 to 0.

Brooklyn coasted home against Raleigh of the Piedmont League, Del Bissonnette's home run with the bases full proving helpful in the 12 to 9 victory.

POUGHKEEPSIE HIGH WON DEBATE WITH CORNWALL

The Poughkeepsie High School debating team won from the Cornwall High School Wednesday afternoon in the semi-final meet for the state championship. Poughkeepsie upheld the negative side on "Resolved, that a federal department of education should be established with a secretary in the President's cabinet." Helen Tibbitts, Mildred Quick and Leon Seley, leader, and John Draney as alternate, represented Poughkeepsie. The Cornwall team was composed of Josephine Wilson, Mariel Gerthwaite and Hazel Long.

Ralph W. Thompson, M. D., was chairman and William Barr, a varsity debater of Rutgers College, was the judge for the Cornwall-Poughkeepsie debate. After the contest Mr. Barr gave constructive criticism. He complimented the Cornwall team for its delivery and courtesy but said that the question was not analyzed thoroughly. He said the Poughkeepsie team presented an excellent analysis but the technique of debating could be improved. Mr. Barr complimented the winners on their thorough knowledge of the subject.

START TRAINING FOR POUGHKEEPSIE REGATTA

Seattle, Wash., April 7. (AP)—The Pacific coast conference rowing title today rested more securely on the heads of the varsity crew of the University of California by virtue of a successful defense of the championship against the University of Washington.

Displaying a mighty reserve power, California flashed across the finish line of a three-mile race on Lake Washington here yesterday half a length ahead of Washington.

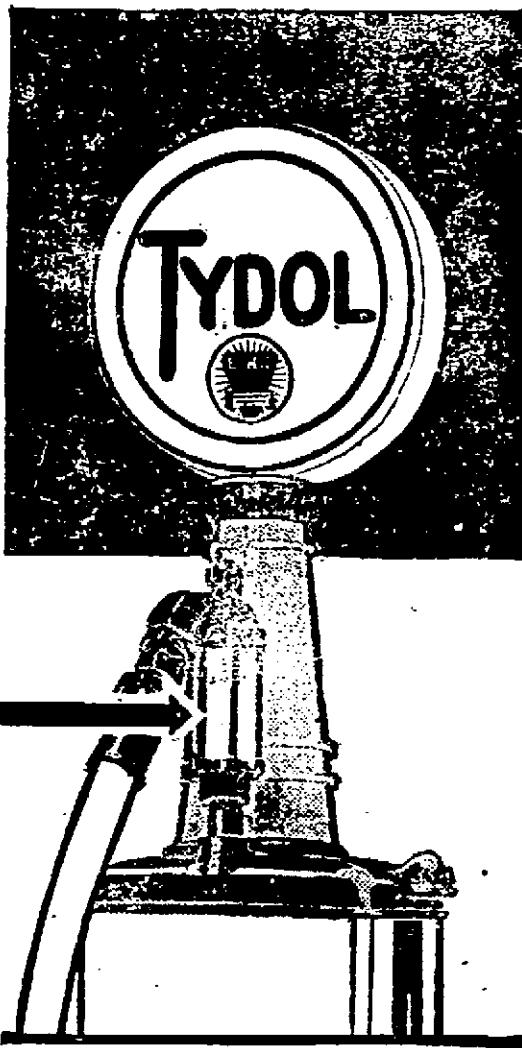

With this victory the California Bears more than evened the score with the Washington Huskies, who, in the first two races of the twenty-fifth annual regatta, defeated the California freshman and junior varsity eights.

The yearling race was won by two and a half lengths in 12 minutes, 6 seconds, and the junior eight, in 19:2.2. The freshmen rowed two miles and the juniors three. A choppy lake and a stiff head wind tended to slow down the time. In the varsity race the Bears won in 18 minutes, 10.2 seconds, or two minutes and 14.2 seconds slower than the course record.

California and Washington will now start training for the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie.

Roads Make Work For Universal

Local Company Continues to Send Its Product Near and Far—States and Communities Building Roads That Will Last.

With the advent of spring and the condition of roads in almost impassable state, various states and communities are preparing to build roads that will last.

The Universal Road Machinery Company of this city have been kept busy supplying orders to state highway departments in various parts of the United States. Recent shipments include two complete crushing outfits to the state of Arkansas. These are the first ever supplied to that state by the local concern and additional orders are expected in the near future.

Four complete plants were shipped to the state highway department of Virginia, two to the highway department of Pennsylvania, a portable outfit to the Anthony Brady estate at Northport, N. Y., another portable plant to John Jones & Son of Indianapolis, Ind., a plant to A. E. Lucas of Newburgh and a 14x24 crusher to the LaPorte Contracting Co. of Anconia, N. Y.

The Bangor State Hospital of Bangor, Maine, and the Ostrander Fire Brick Co., of Perth Amboy, N. J., also purchased complete crushing outfits. Two compressors were shipped during the past week to the town of Ulster and the town of Thomson, Sullivan county.

Four townships in this county have purchased Bay City gas shovels, viz., Lloyd, Gardiner, Shandaken and Woodstock. Two townships in Dutchess county, one in Columbia and two in Greene have ordered these shovels and the same are now on the way to their various destinations. The firm of John Maxwell & Sons of Saugerties also owns one of the shovels bought through the Universal Company.

A special dust collecting system was installed for the Alpha Portland Cement Company of Alsen, N. Y. Two carloads of concrete mixers have been sold from the yards of the local concern since the first of the year as well as several road graders. A power grader weighing seven tons was also sold to the township of Fishkill, Dutchess county.

Improvements at Winne Hardware

The interior of the hardware store of L. S. Winne & Co., 328 Wall street, has been very greatly improved by Benjamin J. Winne, the proprietor. The old office at the right of the main entrance has been taken away and in place a department for tools installed with cases that have swinging glass front doors to show plainly various styles of the tools.

The cases are of oak and behind the swinging doors are cabinets containing goods. The old front office department is now at the left near the rear where the auto supply department was, it being of oak construction with plenty of light and with closets that are dust proof for the keeping of books and papers.

Back of this office where the cashier and bookkeepers are located is the main office of Mr. Winne, his stenographers and typists, and of Manager A. D. Relyea. The partitions of the offices and many dust proof closets are all of oak with Duco finish. The Schwarzwalder Co. of Chichester making all of the work. The partitions all run to the ceiling and there is plenty of light. Every inch of space that could be saved in making the improvements was utilized.

The Lamson trolley system has been installed, doing away with the old time way of going to the office and paying the cashier at his desk. The big safe that occupied considerable room at the right of the front has been moved to the rear in the cashier department and around and above it has been built oak cases for use to keep books and other articles. In the basement a very large number of bins have been built which contain heavy hardware that formerly was kept on the second floor. Hardware stores as a rule are not considered beautiful but the Winne store with its transformation is not far from being so classed.

The Week in Wall Street

New York, April 7 (AP)—Speculative interest in this week's markets was divided between the continuation of the sharp upward movement of stock prices and the collapse in Crude Rubber quotations to the lowest levels since 1924.

Bond prices held firm, with some good gains recorded by the semi-speculative class. Foreign exchange rates held steady in rather featureless trading.

The advance in stock prices took place in the face of a series of ordinarily adverse market developments. These included a huge increase in brokers' loans, which are now at record high levels; a falling off in freight car traffic, an increase in crude oil production, further exports of gold, stiffening money rates, omission of the U. S. Rubber Preferred dividend and indications that the reduction in Federal taxes would be less than previously expected.

There were a few off-setting developments, most important of which was the reported agreement of eastern railroad executives on a four trunk-line consolidation plan. The increase in the regular Atchison dividend from $7 to $10 annually and the optimistic statements on business conditions by Walter Chrysler, automobile manufacturer, and President Parsons of the P. W. Woolworth Company helped to maintain bullish enthusiasm.

The break in rubber followed the announcement of Premier Baldwin that British export restrictions would be abandoned on November 1 next. Crude Rubber dropped five cents a pound the first day and two cents more the second day after the announcement, touching a new low level around 19 cents, but it made partial recovery later, rubber shares were weak in sympathy.

Airplane stocks featured the trading on the New York Stock Exchange, both Wright Aeronautical and Curtiss soaring to new high levels on buying influenced by expectations of large government and private contracts. General Motors was sluggish early in the week but started forward at a brisk pace on Thursday on reports that a new pool had been organized in that issue. Other motors advanced in sympathy, Packard mounting to a new peak price.

Radio was reactionary most of the week. Officials of the exchange announced after the close Thursday that no further reports would be required of detailed transactions in that stock, indicating that the recent investigation had failed to disclose evidence of the "technical corner" believed to have been created when the stock started on a wild rampage about a month ago.

Steels were jagged this week. Public Utilities presented several points of strength, particularly among the New York Traction and Gas shares. Oils were under steady accumulation with sharp advances in Atlantic Refining and Richfield Oil of California among the features in that group.

Railroad shares gave one of the most impressive demonstrations of group strength, the general average mounting to a new high level for the year. New peak prices for the year, or longer, were registered by a number of issues including Wash, Texas & Pacific, Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Baltimore & Ohio, Western Maryland Common and Second Preferred and Lackawanna.
